

England's Election
No One Slaps Dempsey

THE ENGLISH were voting yesterday. Once they voted a week at it. Now only one day. Today you should hear the results of about 300 Parliamentary elections, enough to tell what has happened.

Donar Law will win probably. In addition to his Conservative party there will be a Labor party, and a big one, probably. There will be an Asquith party and a Lloyd George party. Such a mixed government will not last long. Then Lloyd George will come back.

MRS. HUCK, new Congresswoman from Chicago, only woman in Congress, has an idea. She says there must be no war until the people have a chance to vote in it.

Nice idea, but the most important thing in war is SPEED. While the people were voting we might have Atlantic or European airplanes dropping TNT on American cities. They wouldn't wait for the vote if they wanted war.

THE best way to prevent war, Mrs. Huck, is to be PREPARED FOR IT. And you needn't have millions of soldiers marching up and down, or even the biggest fleet of battleships in the world.

Have 5,000 first class fighters, running machines for the government with mail, express and newspapers. Five thousand more men kept in training that understand dropping bombs. Add to that a good fleet of submarines, and you won't have to vote on war.

Nobody will fight you. As Mr. Jack Dempsey marches up and down the land, nobody slaps his face. It is understood that he is PREPARED. If his arms and legs were mangled, he might be otherwise. While this country lacks flying machines, the only modern fighting weapon talking about, except submarines, its arms and legs are missing.

MRS. HUCK, PLEASE set an example to the men, and get up every day like old Cal, been fasting on one fact, one policy, adequate flying machine preparation to avoid war, and if possible, to win it, if it comes.

CLEMENCEAU gets up on shipboard at 7 o'clock and cuts it a terribly shameful hour. He is up usually at 5.

Fire o'clock better than 7 for an old man. But 7 is early enough for a young man. A young man unless he can be persuaded to go to bed VERY early, which is hard. The old used little sleep, for in their better life is slow; they use up little power.

The young need more. Ten hours at least for a burning intellect. Eight hours, better still, nine, for a young man, then gradually less and less as you get past fifty and on toward eighty.

Perhaps you Providence snub the old to thrive with less sleep than they may pay awake at night and study the stars, to which they are soon going.

"HATTIE," the elephant, is sick. With the help of twenty men, two trucks and four quarts of whiskey, her attendants

Families Frequently Sell Their Entire Home Furnishings

Very often circumstances compel families to sell their entire home furnishings to liquidate their debts. And sometimes it is to the advantage of the family to sell the whole lot at once, rather than to the disadvantage of selling or mortgaging it piecemeal.

Opportunities for great savings are presented in the actual results.

These opportunities are matters of constant offering through the "For Sale" columns of the Boston Herald.

Often you can more quickly find that which you want by putting in an order. Write it out, then leave it with or

VERIFY JANE GIBSON'S STORY OF HALL MURDER

New Brunswick, Nov. 16.—The authorities have made a test of Mrs. Jane Gibson's story of the Hall-Mills murder, and have satisfied themselves that their star witness could have seen what she says she saw on her return to the scene of the crime at 1 o'clock in the morning.

According to Mrs. Gibson, the moon had just risen at that time, and she was able to see a woman in gray kneeling and sobbing before the Hall-Mills body—the same woman in gray Mrs. Gibson says she saw with a bushy-haired man in the glare of an automobile's headlights in De Russy's lane before the murder. The test was made when, the authorities say, atmospheric conditions were practically the same as on Sept.

GASTON'S NET GAIN 993 IN 212 TOWNS

A net gain for Senator Lodge of 137 votes over the first promise returns from Beckett was shown by the Senatorial recount in that town, completed today. This represented a gain of 15 for Gaston, Democrat, and a gain of 172 for Lodge, Republican. The town clerk said that the recount figures Gaston, 14; Lodge, 30, were the same as the original figures, and that the press figures, Gaston, 19; Lodge, 131, were incorrect.

MELLON AIDS DOWRY

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A shower of last-minute checks awaited the dowry of Miss Winifred Holt, worker for the blind, who will become the bride today of Rufus Graves Mather of Princeton, N. J. A gift of $1,000 from the Mellon family, and an anonymous gift of $5,000 were among them. It was expected the fund of $10,000 which Miss Holt hoped to raise for the Lighthouse for the Blind she established in France would be overabundant.

The ceremony will be performed in the New York Lighthouse by Bishop Manning. Four of her bridesmaids are blind.

managed to get her inside the elephant house.

She disliked everything about the performance except the whiskey. Fondness for alcohol must be very deep in our tissues, and the animals, without exception, share it.

Give a monkey beer and he won't touch milk. Give him wine, he wants no beer; give him whiskey, he refuses wine. And yet Mr. Bryan denies the relationship—perhaps because HE would rather have milk than the things the monkeys prefer.

THE SWISS, conservative, well-governed people, are worried about the proposal to confiscate property up to a maximum of 60 per cent for government use.

It is probable that the so-called "capital levy" will become reality in many places. The disengagement concerning Switzerland interests Americans because it might take 60 per cent of the fortune of Miss McCormick, Rockefeller's granddaughter, who is going to marry a Swiss.

THE RAISING of income for government use is difficult everywhere in different forms. For instance, in France cities complain because the government does not dare collect from farmers their share of taxes.

In the United States we have no such farmer difficulty. But here we are unable to collect the full taxes from the very big people who calmly tell you "high taxes won't be paid, whatever you make them."

And, very convenient for the well to do, we have created fifty thousand million dollars of securities that cannot be taxed by the government. For their further convenience our highest court has decided that when they pay themselves stock dividends worth tens of millions instead of cash, that stock is NOT INCOME.

The French farmers may escape taxation to some extent, but they could learn something by coming over here and visiting our prosperous class in America.

MR. ARNOLD, former banker, now preaching in New York, hitting a ball at his own expense, says: "It was hard for me to understand that God selected me for this work, being unprepared."

That may be the very reason for selecting him.

John Bogart, city editor of the Sun, with Charles A. Dana, the best city editor that ever lived, sent a green young man to report a stepladder saying: "Because you have never seen a stepladder you will write a good report."

What is now makes a strong impression, and what makes a strong impression on us enables us to make a strong impression on others.

BABY HELD FOR BILLS RETURNED TO MOTHER

Chicago, Nov. 16.—A four-month-old baby, held by the grandparents as a hostage for unpaid bills, has been awarded to the mother by Judge Joseph Sabat.

"A baby belongs to his mother," he said. "He can't be held for a debt like a piece of property."

The grandparents claimed that the mother, Mrs. Kovacs, claimed them for the baby's clothes and doctor bills when the child was born.

$15,103 SPENT BY WOODHOUSE FOR JEWELRY

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 15.—That C. Douglas Woodhouse, husband of the woman who is suing his parents for a million dollars for alienation of his affections, spent about $15,103 in the twenty-two months while he was in Washington and that most of this amount went for jewelry, was the feature of the testimony given by Arthur W. Hill, cashier of the Merchants' National Bank of Burlington, of which L. E. Woodhouse, one of the defendants, is president, when the case was resumed in Cauttenden county court here today.

It was shown that these sums were spent while young Woodhouse was paying attention to Lillian Hendricks McClellan.

In March, 1920, Woodhouse paid Beckett & Barclay, New York, Jewellers, $1,000; in June, 1921, August, 1920, and September, 1920.

He also paid $100 to a Burlington Jeweler and $1,000 to E. C. Krest of Alexandria, Va. In one lump sum he drew $5,000 worth of securities from his safe deposit box. He gave instructions to Hill to see to it that his check balance was well covered no matter if it was necessary to sacrifice some of the securities.

It had previously been brought out in Hill's testimony that young Woodhouse's annual income was about $2,500, or approximately one-third of the amount he spent in Washington.

The reading of numerous checks drawn by Woodhouse consumed the greater part of the morning's session.

It was shown that, while Woodhouse during his stay in Washington in 1919-20 kept up his club dues in Vermont and Massachusetts and paid some money to Burlington more than none was paid to any of the creditors here of his wife, Mrs. Dorrit Woodhouse.

BRITISH TORIES' MAJORITY OVER ALL LOW 86

London, Nov. 15.—The Associated Press.—With considerably more than two-thirds of the returns in, the Conservatives (Tories) were rapidly approaching the number of members necessary (139) for control of the new House of Commons.

Returns for 464 divisions out of 478 showed the following:

- Conservatives, 258.
- Liberals (Asquithian), 46.
- Laborites, 86.
- National Liberals (Georgian), 23.
- Other parties, 11.

The second woman returned (Lady Astor being the first) was Mrs. Margaret Winttingham, present member of South Division, Lincolnshire. Mrs. Winttingham had 11,699 votes against 10,716 for Sir Alan Hutchings, Conservative.

Major John Jacob Astor, son of the late Viscount Astor, was elected on the Conservative ticket over the Liberal candidate, L. J. Stein, and the Independent Unionist, Colonel Thomas Polson, in the Dover Division of Kent.

Among the successful Labor candidates was Shapurji Saklatvala, a Parsi born in England, who regards himself as "member for India," although elected for the prole working district of Battersea, South London. He intends to look after the interests of Indian education.

Dr. Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, Minister of Health in the Bonar Law Cabinet, was defeated by his Liberal opponent in the Taunton Division of Somerset.

Austen Chamberlain, leader of the House in the Lloyd George regime, was returned by a large majority over his Labor party opponent in the west division of Birmingham.

Charles A. McCurdy, once Minister of Food and later chief coalition whip, was returned for Northampton on the coalition Liberal ticket with 18,516 votes over Miss Margaret Bondfield, Liberal, with 14,494, and Henry Vivian, Liberal, with 7,512.

Labor suffered a hard setback in the Widnes division of Lancashire when Arthur Henderson was defeated by Dr. George C. Cliven, Conservative, after holding the seat since 1919. The vote was: Cliven, 14,479; Henderson, 12,337.

L. H. Thomas, head of the transportation workers, has been re-elected from Derby.

U. S. BUYS 9,000,000 MORE BARRELS OIL

Washington, Nov. 15.—Additional contracts for more than 9,000,000 barrels of fuel oil, announced today by Chairman Leaker of the Shipping Board, call for the United States Company to furnish in the next eighteen months 8,000,000 barrels per year at Pacific ports at $1 to $2 cents a barrel.

The Standard Oil Company of New York will furnish 200,000 to 400,000 barrels of fuel for Eastern ports at $1.75.

As a result of contracts announced yesterday for 15,000,000 barrels, awarded the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the Texas Company, it was said the Standard Oil Company had agreed to charter six Shipping Board tankers to transport one-fourth of the oil called for in its contract.

SEEK TO RAISE BAN ON TIDE WATER STOCK

The Universal Dies Paver Company today applied to the State Department of Public Utilities to raise the bid against the sale of its stock in this State. It asked to be allowed to proceed with the building of a big station in East Boston to harness the ocean tides and furnish power to electricity.

Fifty men and women who have sought stock declared they have sought confidence in the inventor, John A. Knowlton, and in the number in which their money has been expended.

MENARY GUILTY OF CONTEMPT

By Judge Bishop in the Superior Criminal Court.

Those found guilty are: Henry H. Chmielewski, former president of the closed Hanover Trust Company.

Former Counselor William S. McNary, co-treasurer of the company.

William S. McNary, co-treasurer of the company.

The special grand jury was formed as the result of a special act of Legislature to investigate the cases of the various closed trust companies.

Allen created a sensation when, without warning, he suddenly dismissed the members of the jury, stating that they had been tampered with.

He charged that the jurors had received letters and had been interviewed outside the court.

He officially accused the four men of having entered into this campaign to influence the jurors and cause them to be adjudged guilty of contempt of court.

Judge Bishop found that McNary was guilty of having sent to members of the jury on September 21 a letter asking to be summoned as a witness and stating that two previous grand juries which investigated the Hanover Trust had returned no bills.

Chmielewski was found guilty for having sent a similar letter on September 29. Conway was found guilty on similar grounds.

McNary was found not guilty of sending letters containing newspaper clippings referring to the trust company and to Attorney General Allen.

Charged for the men found guilty declared that the case was of vital importance and without precedent, and that it should be reported to the Supreme Court. They asked that this be done.

Judge Bishop took the matter under advisement.

$200,000 FIRE CAUSES SCARE IN PORTLAND

Portland, Me., Nov. 15.—Spontaneous combustion in the paint storeroom department was believed today to have caused the fire last night in one of the six factories comprising the plant of the E. T. Burrows Company.

While the fire was confined to the upper two floors of the six-story building at the corner of Spring and South streets, the damage by water and smoke was heavy, the total loss being estimated between $200,000 and $300,000. This is covered by a large insurance.

The entire plant was shut down for one day. About 150 men, employed in the burned building, will be idle about two weeks.

This building is the outlet for the entire plant and was heavily stocked with goods for the Christmas trade, shipment of which was to have begun today.

Mayor Hears Rumor He Is "Dead" and Begs to Differ

Mayor Curley is very much amused.

Despite the rumors around town of the Mayor's sudden death, he is still very much on the job.

On hearing the rumor of his death, the Boston American reporter called up the Mayor to find out if he was dead or alive.

The Mayor replied, like Mark Twain, "rather premature."

He said he would look himself over, laughed and stated that he guessed that he was all there, "still alive and still a candidate for Governor two years from now."

W. C. T. U. TEARS DOWN FLAG OF IRELAND

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 15.—The green, white and gold flag of the Irish Republic, one of the decorations of the Academy of Music, where the W. C. T. U. held the closing sessions of its world convention was torn down by request of Mrs. O. Clow, a delegate from Ulster, who objected to the presence of the banner.

"Ireland is still under the British flag," Mrs. Clow declared. "The Free State has accepted the treaty with Great Britain." The Irish colors were replaced by those of the British Empire.

$550,000 PACKERS' TRUST TO BE FOUGHT HARD IN CONGRESS

COMBINE OPPOSED BY 'BLOC'

La Follette to Demand Inquiry If Bill Is Passed; Steel Merger Hanging Fire

By A. BART CAMPBELL, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Any attempt of the "Big Five" meat packers to merge their interests into a half billion dollar combine was declared by members of the "Agricultural Bloc" today to be certain to provoke a storm of opposition and criticism in Congress.

The current proposal made by Armour & Co. and Morris & Co. to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and other government officials that they be permitted to combine and the suggestion at Chicago that a merger of all the "Big Five" is in contemplation were regarded, however, as "futile" put out as a result of a carefully conceived plan to test sentiment in Congress.

OPPOSED BY FARM BLOC

Members of the "Agricultural Bloc" said if the "Big Five" want such a test they would quickly discover that sentiment in Congress would be overwhelmingly opposed to any such combination as was proposed.

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and a leader of the progressive Republican group in the Senate, said he was unambiguously opposed to the formation of a " gigantic food trust such as is apparently contemplated."

WILL DEMAND INQUIRY

"I cannot think of such a step as being in the interest of the consumer," said Senator La Follette, Republican, of North Dakota, also a member of the "Agricultural Bloc."

"To allow such a merger would be playing into the hands of the food middleman and speculator, into the hands of 'big business' who are certainly opposed to it, and I am sure every other member of Congress who has the best interests of the producer and consumer at heart would consider it seriously for a moment."

DURING THE PAST SEASON

During the past season of Congress certain big steel companies proposed to form a big combination of their industries. Senator La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin, promptly went to the floor after Attorney-General Daugherty expressed the opinion that there was nothing in the Clayton and Sherman acts to render the proposed merger illegal. The legality of the case is still hanging fire with La Follette closely watching for trouble.

IF THE PACKERS' PROPOSAL

La Follette will direct the attention of it by introducing a resolution of inquiry into the matter when the proposed steel merger was first broached.

ANOTHER EFFECT OF THE

merger might be the reopening of the movement to enact packer control legislation with "teeth" in it by the Progressive Republican group in Congress.

$20-A-WEEK BARKEEP

"SAVED UP" $18,000

New York, Nov. 14.—Michael J. Burke informed Commissioner of Accounts Hirschfield he had saved $18,000 as a bartender for eighteen years at $20 a week and "tips."

He was examined on charges that eight patrolmen had paid him $1,500 each and that $18,000 deposited in Burke's name had been withdrawn just prior to a trip to Ireland in 1921.

Burke said the $18,000 was given him by a "George White" who lived somewhere in Brooklyn, to hold a few days.

First of Junior Supper Dances to Be Held Friday Night, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

TRIMMY bows are being pinned into place and dainty silver and golden fillets are being tried against Midway's hair—all in a final tour of sartorial inspection.

For Friday next comes the first of the much-heralded Junior Supper Dances at the Ogby Plaza. These affairs—for the debutantes as well as the girls who have been out a year or more and their train of cavaliers—are considered "the thing," and unusually smart attendance may be counted upon.

Miss Frances Weld, the daughter of the Rev. C. Weld, who seems to be taking such a prominent place in the ranks of the season's debut, is a member of the committee in charge of the Junior Dances. The other feminine members of the committee include lovely Mrs. Francis Bacon Lohrop (Eleanor Abbott), Miss Mary Weld and her friend, Miss Stirling, with whom she traveled abroad a year ago last summer; Miss Louise Fessenden, the dainty heroine of the last Varsity Club show; also Miss Marian Penno and Mrs. Arthur L. Richmond. Of the men on the committee there are Messrs. Chandler Bishop, Charles Cabot, Robert W. Simmons, 2d, Lawrence Foster, James J. Lee, Henry C. Morgan and Philip Shapley.

The other dates for the Junior Supper Dances are December 5 and 10, January 13 and February 13. There is, of course, a distinguished patronage for these affairs.

A PROPOS of Miss Frances Weld, she is one of the young girls who are helping Mrs. Arthur G. Hatch plan the Midway, which is to be one of the very best features of the Atlantic City Boardwalk Exposition.

Others helping Mrs. Hatch are Mrs. Whiston Byers, Miss Nell White, Mrs. Freddy Bink (Barrett Pendergast) and Mrs. George Wardwell.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE M. CUSHING of Milton have been stopping for a few days in New York at the Hotel Chatham.

DESPITE the fact that New York and Bostonians are supposed to be not at all ill, the number of Boston-New York alliances are increasing more and more each year.

Quite a distinguished contingent is representing the Hub at the wedding of Miss Beatrice Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Starr of New York, and William De Ford Beal of Boston, which takes place tomorrow in the Central Presbyterian Church in New York. A reception at Starr's is to follow the ceremony.

Among the group of attendants will be Mrs. Thomas Prince Beal, Jr. (May Morgan), a sister-in-law of the groom, whose husband will serve the groom as best man. Among the ushers are the Rev. William A. Lawrence, John A. Brewster, Charles S. Cutting, William D. Robler, Jr., Herbert Jacobs and Frederick M. Burnham, all of Boston. The groom, a member of the Harvard '14 class, as well as of the Tennis and Racquet, Union and Somerset Clubs, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Prince Beal (Ida De Ford) of Gloucester street.

The Beal-Starr nuptials mark the second Boston-New York alliance in the groom's immediate family, for his sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Beal, Jr., was formerly Miss May Morgan.

Of New York, her marriage to the Bostonian took place a year ago last summer at the country house of the bride's parents in Shelburne, Vt.

"ELEGANT" BEARS

Just naturally can't seem to stay away from any important equine event, and I wasn't the least surprised to hear that she attended the New York Horse Show as the guest of Mrs. Paul Moore in Judge Moore's box on Tuesday night. Judge Moore, by the way, is a close North Shore neighbor of Miss Starr during the summer months, both having estates at Price's Crossing. For a time it was thought that owing to illness Judge Moore would be unable to attend the show, but on Tuesday he did show up.

Harold S. Vanderbilt, who, by the way, is also a close neighbor of "Elegance" and Judge Moore's during his sojourn at "Round Plain Farm," was also among those having a box. His guests included Mrs. Louis Ralston, Mrs. William A. Friss, Mrs. Lohrop Randolph, Mrs. James T. Terry and Miss Harriet Campbell.

MISS FRANCES WELD

Miss Frances Weld, one of the young girls planning things for the Midway at the Atlantic City Boardwalk Exposition, is a member of the committee in charge of the Junior Supper Dances.

NECK GEAR PROTECTS

AMHERST GRID STAR

Amherst, Nov. 15.—James Williams of Oleanburg, Ct., captain of the Amherst football team, who nearly broke his neck last year, is closing his football career wearing a special leather neckgear which almost conceals his face. Doctors told him last year that he would place his life in jeopardy if he played again, but Williams has played every game at guard this year.

GIRL ACCUSED OF

ROBBING ROOMMATE

Miss Edith DeLong, twenty-five years old, of Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, was arrested by Inspectors Finn and Flaherty as she stepped off the Yarmouth boat at a local pier, and looked up on a charge of larceny of $125 from Violet Christie, with whom she used to room at No. 118 West Newton street. The police say she was accompanied by Miss Christie's aunt, Mrs. Augustus, drawing out the girl's account and feeling to Nova Scotia.

DEMAND PRISON RELEASE MISS MACSWINEY

Dublin, Nov. 16.—The Dublin Municipal Corporation today appealed to the Free State government to release Miss Mary MacSwiney, who has been on a hunger strike since November 4. The doctors at Mountjoy prison refused to give any information about Miss MacSwiney's condition.

Her friends claim she is in such a serious state that death may be expected at any hour. This is denied by the prison authorities.

Republican irregulars are conducting daily demonstrations in favor of Miss MacSwiney's release and some public bodies are now taking up her cause.

Miss MacSwiney is a sister of the late Terrence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, who starved himself to death in British jail, London, two years ago.

Plan Neutral Body

of Friends of Ireland

St. Louis, Nov. 16.—Plans for the formation of an organization with a neutral policy toward the situation in Ireland were under way here today following the withdrawal of the St. Louis Council of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic from the national association, which is said to be supporting Eamon De Valera in his campaign for an Irish Republic.

The local branch "out of harmony" with the national organization, according to M. J. Cullinan, president of the St. Louis Council, and will reorganize as "American Friends of Ireland."

President Cullinan said the majority of the members of the local branch are not in sympathy with the activities in America of Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney.

Muriel MacSwiney to Rest Before Tour

Washington, Nov. 16.—Released from charges brought against her last night, and eight other women for picketing the British Embassy here, Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of Terrence MacSwiney, was planning today to take a rest in Virginia before resuming her speaking tour in this country on behalf of the Irish Republic movement.

BOSTON PROTESTS

MACSWINEY ARREST

A protest against the recent arrest in Washington of Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney and other sympathizers with the Irish "Republicans," who were taken into custody while picketing the White House, was telegraphed to President Harding by John P. Harrigan, president of the state council of the A. R. I. R. Harrigan sees a "terrible blow to liberty if American policy is to suppress the moral right to protest the restraint of liberty of people striving for freedom."

FIRST LIST OF APPROVED AUTO TAIL LIGHTS

The first list of makes of approved tail lights for automobiles was made public by Frank A. Goodwin, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, at a meeting of the Motor Truck Club of Massachusetts, held at the Boston City Club.

So far only twenty-one lamps have been approved by the Registry of Motor Vehicles, though sixty-one were submitted for inspection. By January 1, every motor vehicle in Massachusetts must be equipped with an approved tail light that illuminates the number plate so that it can be read at a distance of sixty feet.

The approved lamps and the names of the manufacturers are:

Electric: Am, two types; A.G.D. 17; Ags, E 11; Buick, type A; Buick, Essex, type A; Buick, Oakland; Napco models, E & H; Nevoratt, type M; Radiolite; Russell, B, two types; Solite; Rudabaker, type A; Rudabaker, type B, two types; Universal Tanker, A.

Acetylene: Victory, No. 441; Hot-lit, No. 1.

Oil: Yankee, B.

Of the forty lamps rejected by his department, Mr. Goodwin said that undoubtedly many of them could be adapted to pass inspection.

He told members of the Motor Truck Club that the law would be rigorously enforced after the first of the year and no license would be granted to any owner of an automobile whose machine did not fully comply with the law.

35 SEEK ELECTION

TO CITY COUNCIL

Two additional candidates, making a total of thirty-five, have taken out nomination papers for the City Council. The latest are: Edward T. Byrne of No. 21 Athens street, South Boston, and Charles L. M. Warner of No. 129 Park street, West End.

The last day for filing papers is Tuesday.

This is the largest list of candidates ever known for any city office, especially in an off year where there is to be no Mayor elected.

For the "Lady of the House"

One can suggest many Christmas gifts for the woman who entertains charmingly and whose house gives forth good cheer and welcome to family and friends.

Candlesticks, compotes, flower bowls and vases in glass of gay hues are very attractive in living-room or hall. One shape of vase in amber, blue or amethyst is particularly suited for large bunches of wild flowers.

Lamps made from vases or cracker pottery and other pottery have shades designed for each one. Brass candlesticks never go out of favor.

Silver suggests many possibilities. From tea and coffee services down to single spoons there are pieces to suit every taste and every purse.

In our antique department are pewter platters and plates. Waterford glass, Staffordshire figurines, old silver and china, any of which would appeal to the acquisitive instinct of the homemaker.

There is still time to order some monogram playing cards for the bridge lover. The new English papers make letter-writing a pleasure.

Blouse satisfaction means two things

First—the blouse must be right all ways. Then the price must be right always.

In the first instance, the fashion, quality and workmanship are right before a blouse finds its way to Jays' little shop. And fashion, quality and workmanship established, we set what we believe to be right prices.

Here are examples: Jays' cotton blouses, $2.90, $3.90 and up to $19.90; Jays' tailored silk blouses, $8.90, $9.90 and up to $22.90; Jays' suit blouses, $7.50, $10.90 and up to $55.

On the street floor you will find blouses, scarfs, sweaters; on the second floor gowns for women and misses; coats, wraps, suits, skirts are on the third floor.

BOOK AGENT UNFOLDS VAST SCHEME TO RICH MEN

New York, Nov. 16.—A tale of fabulous riches in the East, a dream of establishing a mighty Mohammedan empire to comprise Angora, Hedjaz, Egypt, Mesopotamia and Kurdistan, and deft allusions to the wealth in precious stones, palaces, camels, sheep and land he pretended to own as an oriental prince.

These were some of the blarneyments "Prince" Zerdeneh, royal masquerader, used in gaining the one of America's most successful shandlers, oil magnates and traction kings, it developed today when further revelations concerning the former Chicago book agent were forthcoming.

Junius Spencer Morgan, son of J. Pierpont Morgan, members of the Vanderbilt family, John S. Jacoby, banker, E. W. Sinclair of the Sinclair Oil Company, were among those to whom, at some fashionable luncheon or afternoon tea, Zerdeneh confided his vast projects for the conquest of the East—and from whom he sought to borrow money on the strength of his fantastic plans.

"PRINCE" IS MISSING.
The "Prince" together with his Kentucky born "Princess" is missing, and his baggage is held at the Pennsylvania Hotel for a bit that is due.

Not only in this country, but in the smart gambling and watering places of Europe, in Monte Carlo, Nice, Deauville, Paris and London, the "Crown Prince of Egypt," as he called himself, mingled with the most exclusive sets, making connections that were later helpful to him in gaining entrance into New York social circles.

The love game was played by the self-styled prince on a large scale. He would come to a hotel, make himself known to the proprietors, and then, when he was alone, he would reveal that "as an Oriental potentate he was entitled to fifty wives."

Rips Out Phone in Rage; Pays $25 and 'Reforms'

Rutland, Vt., Nov. 16.—Thomas D. Noel of Mt. Holly lost his temper when he could not get "Central" on the telephone. He ripped the instrument from the wall of his home, dumped it into his automobile and then drove two miles to the home of the telephone operator and shied the fixtures through the plate glass window in the front door.

In City Court he pleaded guilty to a charge of breach of the peace, paid a fine of $25, agreed to repair the damaged door and promised to treat telephones with more respect in the future.

MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH BY ROAD ROLLER

Joseph Russo, flagman for a steam road roller, was crushed to death by the twelve-ton machine on Alfred street in Charlestown today.

Russo, employed by the New Contracting Company of Center street, Jamaica Plain, and forty years old, was walking about ten feet ahead of the roller with a warning flag.

An automobile from the opposite direction cut in ahead of the roller. In stepping back and to one side to avoid the automobile, Russo went to near the roller. He was struck by one of its steering chains and was thrown to the ground so that his head was directly in the path of the roller's rear right wheel.

Before Charles Stedell of No. 464 Springfield street, Norwell, driver of the roller, could bring the ponderous engine to a halt the heavy wheel had passed over Russo's head.

Constantinople, Nov. 15 (By the Associated Press)—The U. S. cruiser Pittsburgh, flagship of Vice-Admiral Andrew T. Long, commander of the American forces in European waters, arrived this morning from Gibraltar.

Paris, Nov. 15 (By the Associated Press)—Great Britain and France are now in complete agreement on the fundamental conditions of Turkish peace. It was definitely stated today.

Premier Poincaré in a conversation with Baron Harington, British ambassador to France, and through the French embassy in London, has replied to the British memorandum, which outlines what Viscount Curzon regards as the vital elements to a satisfactory peace treaty.

The French Premier has accepted the British point of view, it was asserted in official circles.

FIXING BLAME FOR BIG MINE EXPLOSION

Spangler, Pa., Nov. 16.—The explosion in No. 1 mine of the Kelly Cutlery Company which resulted in the loss of seventy-seven lives was caused either by a dynamite shot fired by a miner or by a miner walking through a gas pocket with an open lamp. Announcement of this finding was made today by Seward Burton, chief inspector of the State Bureau of Mines, who had directed the investigation since the fatal explosion. He expected to be able to announce later who was responsible for the explosion.

The largest vessel in the world was floated on the largest dry dock in the world today at South Boston.

With ten tugboats assisting to battle the effects of a high gale, and ten tow-boats assisting the tugboats, the White Star liner Majestic was floated on the South Boston dry dock after an hour of strenuous manipulation. During which one of the great hawsers snapped. The huge ship was finally settled into its cradle on the dry dock without further mishap.

TONS OF BARNACLES

The Majestic will discard her set of four propellers, each of which weighs sixteen tons. The propellers are badly corroded as the result of electrolysis. She may also get a new set of four. Several tons of barnacles will be scraped from her bottom as she will get a coat of copper paint and receive a thorough overhaul.

The South Boston dry dock is the only one in the world large enough to receive the Majestic. It was built originally by the defunct Board of Port Directors, and General Hugh Sherborn, who was chairman of the board, was among the many notables present to view the job of floating the Majestic onto the drydock. He was accompanied by Frank W. Hodges, the engineer who designed the dry dock, and who is now chief engineer of the Department of Public Works of this city.

NOTABLES WITNESS FEAT

Others who witnessed the dry-docking of the great ship were Commodore C. C. Barrett, marine superintendent of the British Red Line, who came from Liverpool just to see the job done; Commodore F. J. Blake, an experienced engineer of the International Merchant Marine; J. Brackenbury, who was met over by the British Board of Trade; Professor W. H. Lamb, an English mathematician, who was on hand to make a study of the erosion of the propellers with a view to making such a section in the future; and Commander Hugh Wiley of the navy yard at Charlestown.

Trained nurses are taught an all-important principle, which is this: From the moment you take a case, guard against infection. If your patient becomes infected, the chances for recovery are cut in half. The trained nurse in following this great principle has years of experience to guide her and is aided by hospital facilities. It is not too much to say, however, that with a bottle of Zonite any mother who can read simple directions can guard her home from infection just as effectively as a trained nurse.

Zonite Has a Wonderful Meaning To Mother

A bottle of Zonite in the home has a wonderful meaning for mother whose cares and responsibilities are so numerous and so grave. What a comfort and satisfaction for her to know that within easy reach she has the same form of antiseptic that performed miracles of healing during the World War. If this form of antiseptic could heal the shocking, gaping wounds of millions of soldiers after all other antiseptics had failed, surely it will heal the every day cuts, wounds and bruises of her own boys and girls and guard them against blood poisoning.

Facts About Zonite

When applied to a fresh cut or wound, Zonite destroys the germs which cause blood poisoning and keeps the wound from becoming infected. It also keeps the wound from becoming infected. It also keeps the wound from becoming infected.

Zonite is rapidly substituting the old, inefficient antiseptics with a new, powerful antiseptic.

Zonite is a powerful antiseptic. It is a powerful antiseptic. It is a powerful antiseptic.

LINER SHORT OF TOBACCO PUTS IN TO GET IT

"Send over a tobacco store and to quick about it. We need fuel oil and water, too, but that can wait. Get some tobacco aboard first."

That was the gist of a message sent by Captain Curran of the Sprague line freighter ship to his Boston agents when the freighter put in here today on the last leg of her long haul from the New East to New York.

The steamship had come from Constantinople, but it seems that tobacco was scarce in that port about that time.

The ship supply of pipe tobacco and chewing' ran out about a fortnight ago. Hence the urgent message of Captain Curran for the agents to get tobacco aboard immediately.

There was a matter of fuel oil and water shorts, too. Oil and water were hoisted aboard today to enable the vessel to complete her trip to New York.

PONZI SAYS HE WAS OFFERED $10,000,000 FOR HIS BUSINESS

BIG BID FOR NAME ONLY

This Is What He Told Attorney-General Allen When They Were Grilling Him

Ponzi "pucked a snuff" in the mid-Summer of 1920, when his business ran into millions. He carried a revolver because he had so much money on a person. He had permit from Police Chief Charles A. Kendall of Somerville. He even had the weapon on him at the time of the conference with Attorney-General J. Weston Allen August 2, 1920, just after his business was closed.

This was brought out at the trial of Ponzi today when transcript of Ponzi's talk with Allen was read in court.

The talk between Ponzi and the State prosecutor that day bristled with "millions."

OFFERED TEN MILLIONS. Ponzi informed the attorney-general that:

He had received an offer of $10,000,000 for his business from the president of a New York national bank named Hermann.

He received a $10,000,000 offer from a Canadian bank.

A State senator named Pickett, offered a round million, newly for the name of the New York institution with which Ponzi did business and the key to the Ponzi success.

Ponzi told Mr. Allen that if he sold his business, it would be for $10,000,000 and that the sale would include only the goodwill and business assets. Ponzi retaining all the profits to date of sale.

FINANCERS JEALOUS. But Ponzi had none but "fairness."

Day's News in Jazz Time

By MORTON BIRGE

An Everett man has rounded up all relatives in a night.

And found a corporation suing to run the family right.

No relatives in all the list.

It can make important move.

And directors of the group.

Consider and approve.

If this is the solution of the usual disputes.

The problems of the "in-laws" and of husbands who are brutes.

Of wives who burn the dinner stove.

Of misbehaving kids.

There's hope for many households that.

Are new upon the scene.

But say a corporation has.

Not any soul at all.

But, if these relatives obey.

And answer to the call.

If all the rules are honored.

CHINESE DR. TESTIFIES AT DEATH TRIAL

Efforts of the police to get from the dying Ung Sing some information as to the assassin who stabbed him through the back, were related by Dr. N. W. Chang, Chinese physician, today, at the trial of Fung Jow and Ang Lock for the murder of Gling.

Dr. Chang, one of the leading residents of the Chinese district of Boston, was passing No. 16 Harrison avenue just as the police were bringing the victim down from his room to an ambulance.

Sergeant Harvey of LaGrange-street station asked Dr. Chang to question Gling in Chinese about the attack on him. Dr. Chang testified that he put questions to Gling, but that the latter was too far gone to answer.

Assistant Medical Examiner William J. Brickley testified in re-direct that no other knife than the slender-bladed one found in Gling's hand could have caused the wound, that the blade just fitted the wound.

A Living Tree.

A TREE is used to denote growth. We say "Our family tree," "The tree of life," etc.

We, too, have a family tree.

More than seventy years ago we commenced our business to manufacture and market high grade roasted coffee.

We planted a little tree here in New England and its branches now cover the country.

Over thirty years ago we planted another little tree, White House Coffee, we called it, and we have watched it grow from a business sapling until it is a mighty tree, strong and enduring because—founded on service, a square deal, an honest product.

White House Coffee, like a healthy tree, has grown and expanded by its own inherent good qualities. It is a coffee that recommends itself. Millions of pounds have been sold.

We ask you to try a pound of White House Coffee—to note its true, coffee flavor—its rich, satisfying body—its appealing sufficiency. It costs no more than ordinary coffee.

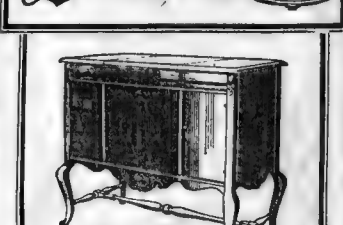

Be sure the "White House" is on every label, 1, 2 and 3 lb. packages only.

THERE are lower priced Sonoras and more expensive Sonoras. The former, made to satisfy popular demand, represent greater value than phonographs of other manufacturers of the same price. The latter, the costly art model Sonoras, are made for those who want something exclusive—extraordinary cabinet work and design, extra long running records, expensive, though not essential conveniences.

Between these two is a Sonora Masterpiece—the Queen Anne—sharing the advantages of both: low enough in price for the modest income, fine enough to grace the most palatial home. Its tone is a startling revelation.

TIGER GOES LIKELY TO HANDICAP YALE

By CHARLES E. BRICKLEY
Former All-American star at Harvard and most famous football player of the last decade.

(Copyright, 1922, by Connecticut News Service)

Victory or defeat in football often hangs on a slight detail such as the careful arrangement of a schedule that allows the successful team to take on its rivals in natural sequence. In the Western Conference, for example, there are three undefeated teams at the present writing, namely Michigan, Chicago and Iowa. Of the three Chicago has far the roughest road to travel to the end of the season.

Having dropped of Ohio State last Saturday, the Maroon now must overcome Illinois and Wisconsin in successive weeks to preserve its clean record. Michigan also must battle Wisconsin again Saturday, but the Wolverine will go into the game with the advantage of a two week rest. Iowa draws the easiest assignment in meeting Ohio State and Northwestern in its remaining games.

Chicago's plight reminds me of that of Yale and Princeton in the permanent arrangement of big three schedules. The Harvard enjoys an undoubted advantage over the other two in that it can rest two weeks between each big game while Yale and Princeton are forced to meet their Big Three meetings on successive Saturdays.

The fact that Yale and Harvard wish to end their respective seasons with this annual feature precludes any arrangement, although if Yale wished to make a showdown it might insist on meeting Princeton before Harvard and thus get the benefit of the two week interval between games. Even then, Princeton would gain nothing.

Yale Must Go Easy in Princeton Game.

The effect of the arrangement upon the present situation is apparent. Having beaten Maroon last Saturday, Princeton may not be able to come back against Yale a few days hence with the same dash and spirit it showed on the former occasion. The Tiger could do this last week's Yale, as the other hand, will enter the Princeton game with an eye on the Harvard meeting a week later. It may not wish to show all it knows, and beyond that fact is the possibility that some of its stars may be injured, such as an extent as to impair their effectiveness against Harvard, if not kept them out of that game altogether.

Even if they escape injury, two grueling contests, such as these will be, on successive Saturdays, takes more out of a player than is visible to the outsider.

Just Eleven Pounds During Grueling Battle.

I will remember what happened to me in my first year on the Harvard Varsity. That was in 1912, when our schedule called for us to play Dartmouth and Princeton in order.

Before the Dartmouth game I weighed 145 pounds of hard, well-developed flesh. On the train of suspicious tissue was on my body after the game, which was one of the most desperate I ever saw. In my weight was exactly 135 pounds.

I had had eleven pounds of real tissue squeezed right out of my system in less than two hours. These eleven pounds were a real pain to lose.

For three days I was like an old man, weak and tired, and I did it, but not and try to feed me well, in spite of all efforts, I could not buck up any of the lost pounds before the Princeton game. The upshot of the thing was that ten minutes before the final whistle they carried me off, feet first and absolutely out.

ALEX TRAMBITAS MEETS KING

Alex Trambitas, California welterweight, has been matched to meet King O. Johnson of New York City in a feature bout of ten rounds at the Casino at C. Fall River Friday night.

Trambitas is making his home in Boston and is battling under the direction of J. McCarthy. The Coast fight: Alex Trambitas, who has displayed considerable ability while showing in New England, will meet a tough foe in King.

Villa Given Real Test Tonight in Goldstein Go.

New York, Nov. 16.—Pancho Villa, the American flyweight champion, will find out this evening if he is good enough to beat a river hand who will outweigh him seven or eight pounds.

Pancho fights Abe Goldstein, a rather sombre looking young Hebrew, who handed Villa a defeat in the first battle the brown skinned lad fought in this country.

These little scrapers meet in one of the bouts at the Garden and are down for a fifteen-round encounter.

PURPLE BEATEN IN RACE WITH THE EAGLE

Boston College defeated Holy Cross in their annual cross-country run held at University Heights, by a score of 19 to 23.

Tom Cavanaugh, of the Eagle team, jumped into the lead at the start, and kept a comfortable distance ahead of his teammates as well as the Purple until the way over the course. Cavanaugh did the three and a quarter-mile course around the reservoir in 16 minutes, 30 seconds.

Art Kirby, a B. C. sophomore, and member of the Eagle relay team last year, by a spectacular court in the home stretch, overcame Donahoy, the Purple barrier, who was running second with a lead of 30 yards.

Holy Cross was represented by only two men in the first seven who finished. Donahoy finished third, and his teammate Cullen was the seventh man. The seven men who crossed the finish line were: Cavanaugh, B. C. Kirby, B. C. Donahoy, H. C. Kirby, B. C. Mahoney, B. C. Mayhew, B. C. Cullen, H. C.

The next track event for the Eagle will be an interclass meet which will be held on three days, November 21, 24 and 27.

Conway Seeks Bout

Frankie Conway, the Philadelphia bantam, who fought a draw with Johnny Brown, the English bantam in Philadelphia last week, will return to Boston shortly. He would like to obtain a return match with Freddy Madrin, and try to wipe out one of the questionable decisions the latter received over him.

JOE GANS MEETS MARTY CROSS

New York, Nov. 15.—Profile for the appearance of Pancho Joe Gans and Marty Cross, who are scheduled to box twelve rounds at the Commodore Garden Club, Saturday night.

This match came out as the best mixed bout held there since the day was lifted by the state Athletic Commission.

Gans is rated by the real dyed-in-the-wool fans as the best welterweight in the ring today, not excepting Mickey Walker, the present world's champion. Cross has been showing a great improvement in his boxing during the past six months and does not fear issue with the great colored welter.

"Puncher" Martin, the newly arrived California boxer, will meet Andy Finkle in another twelve-round bout.

RIVINGTON A. C. TO STAGE RING SHOW

The Rivington A. C. of Chelsea will conduct an amateur boxing tourney Saturday evening at the Chelsea Theatre and a program is being arranged by Manager A. J. Rivington with bouts in the 115, 125 and 155-pound classes. Entries may be sent to Al Leary at No. 12 Beacon Street, Chelsea.

BROWN RULES EASY MONEY FACITE FOR HARVARD GAME

BROWN'S RECORD IS RATED AS BESSER THAN

By CHARLES E. PARKER.
According to down town quotations, Brown is an even money bet on the Harvard game tonight, and there is a possibility of his being the favorite in the wagering. The sports of the announcement that Coach "Big Red" Brown, head coach of the Bruins, will be in the line of the first string line-up are for service.

And that is much as it should be, for Brown's record is a very big as good if not a trifle better than Harvard's has proved to be. Brown's record is equally impressive if not more so, and Brown's incentive to win is much greater than the one that will govern the play of the Harvard team.

Big Red's record, head coach of the Bruins, has been quoted as saying that if he cannot win with his material his possession this year he never will win, and that is quite a statement for any coach to make.

Three Long Runs by Neidlinger Led to All
Three long runs by Neidlinger, the Yale quarterback, made after he had caused a Brown punt, and the others coming on for yards, led to the three touchdowns. Just how the Harvard team will do well is a mystery, but it seems to have happened to the Bruins.

Except for these three plays the Harvard eleven held a decided advantage in the game. It gained more first downs and had a greater total of ground gained at the end of the four periods, and played for power moments at least the equal of the Yale team.

Brown wants to Beat Harvard and Will Try.
Some have suggested that Brown is pointing his team for the Dartmouth game one week hence, and plan to conserve his efforts in the Harvard contest, but don't you let you fool you. Brown wants to beat Harvard and that ambition has been especially strong since Harvard's plan of employing regulars has been published.

And inasmuch as the Dartmouth attack has caused just one touchdown in four weeks, and Harvard has been led by three of its first four opponents, Brown is not sitting idly by to worry over the coming clash of the current season.

It will be interesting to note the effect upon the Harvard players of their recent defeat at that effect is manifested in the Brown contest.

Last year when extending circumstances involved, Harvard players responded to their crowding at the hands of Princeton with victories in both the Brown and Yale games, but this year, with excuses much harder to find, and with approaching games of greater strenuousness than was the case in 1921, many are wondering what will happen.

The day old Globe tribune says "Fishes" expects a hard game, but he knows that Brown will play clean and that his team will be called upon to be more than usually careful."

Highly Complimentary to Brown, but a Dig at Tigers.
Which is highly complimentary to Brown, but oh, what a nasty dig at Princeton and other Harvard opponents. So nasty and unbecoming for it that we rather doubt the Globe's

He fights a shark, bare-handed, beneath the waters of the sea!

Fatley: Baseball War Start in December, End New Years; Only Wonders Are Headaches

WHAT'S A LITTLE WAR?
BATTLEMAN BAY JOHNSON is getting warm up another baseball war. He's been quiet so long that he's been called a "sleeping giant" and he'll earn it if it gets on his neck. Keneaw's supposed standard of $100,000 a year, but baseball moguls talk big figures than that every day.

Man has five clubs with him, man that don't want to pay big money for players. Thirteen to start new league, but can't succeed without the money to start.

PUNNIER JOKE I EVER HEARD
WITH the new players I have heard of, I have heard of a punnier joke I ever heard.

HORSE shoe pitching contest
Next big event at Madison Square Garden. Taxi drivers all entered. Have motors on their horse shoes, so they can ring any bell.

Three defeats and one small consolation win in the Dartmouth record for the past four weeks, and in that time three long distance field goals by "Pudge" Neidlinger, and one touchdown—that scored against the Harvard team.

Red Attack Promised, Has Yet to Materialize
The real attack promised by the Green coaches after the Vermont game has yet to materialize, and is not likely of materialization unless said coaches recognize the fact that a No. 1 back ought and strength—such a back as "Red" Lee, the Dartmouth weight thrower—what is really needed.

That was clearly brought out in the Vermont game and in the Harvard game, and from all accounts it was further emphasized in the Cornell contest.

In Harvard, Dartmouth has a triple threat specialist; in Leavitt, it has a sterling defensive back; but both Harvard and Leavitt are two story plow boys that fall the lot of the player filling the No. 1 position.

Red Lee Seems to Be Built Just Right for Task.
"Red" Lee, it is said, appeared the ideal man for such a task, and just why he has not been groomed for the job has puzzled many Dartmouth men. It is said he lacks defensive ability, but others have been taught to fill defensive assignments and, because of "Red's" offensive value, it would seem logical to spend a bit of time educating him in that department.

"Columbia" after its sufficient loss against N. Y. U. in defeat by Williams and its slaughter by Cornell, came back last week against the scrappy Middlebury eleven and is highly ambitious to brighten a rather sorrowful season with victories over Dartmouth and Colgate. Last year were gone of luck aided Dartmouth to its win over the Gothamites, but it cannot be counted on to function next year.

WHEN was cracker who have been chirping that Seating Bill couldn't fight, will be able to prove it soon. They won't let him in England, France and Italy. All he has to do now is to come over here and be knocked off, and it'll be unanimous.

GRAYS EAGER TO GROW UP DETEER DAY

Every day and in every way the Boston College football team is growing better and better. This is what the Det Co. would say after witnessing the Eagle road last week in its strenuous preparation for the three remaining games.

It was a team in make up of an equal men who know how to play the game. Coach Vaughn's men are equally seasoned, and in his first time, he has the two of war horses Hargreaves and Conner.

Eagle Opponents Always Regard Tony as Dangerous.
The Eagles' opponents have at least regarded Tony as a dangerous man to let loose in winter in the playing on the offense or defense.

HAVERHILL EXPECTS BIG CROWD FOR LAWRENCE
By FRED C. LANE.
Haverhill High authorities are making preparations to handle the largest crowd ever at the stadium on Saturday when Lawrence High journeys here to play the Massachusetts champions.

It is the stiffest contest that Haverhill has booked this season. The Lawrence team will enter the contest with a record of seven straight victories. Not a black mark is on the team's record for the season.

Lawrence has a man's size job on hand to trim Lawrence. All the regulars on that team, with the exception of Ray Callahan, will be on hand when the referee blows the starting whistle.

THEY of great men now re- turned to the city. They might not have reached their goal. Had they attained their genius saving fifteen hundred a ton for coal.

THE handsome Bengaliae flattered Georges Carpentier, and thought he had, but he was the real of Europe. He didn't bear the ball. Kept shouting kave at everybody that got near.

With the peace conference on, they thought he would start another war. So they stole some of the New York Combs's stuff, and sent him back and told.

Princeton Players Copy a Garment Used in West

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 16.—There was quite a commotion when the members of the Princeton football squad appeared on the rainy field in a new kind of garment.

This outfit, which includes a slipper jumper with a huge hood attached, looks like a combination of the clothes worn by the Eskimos, the Klans, the monks of old.

They are gray and when a player gets made of use his identity is completely hidden. It was quite a surprising combination for a grid man, and the only name given them was "a coop," applied by Don Lutz.

However, Bill Roper explained that these outfits were to keep the men warm and dry when on the field or side lines and not in actual play.

Princeton's defense will be a surprise to the Yale team. The regular lineup that started the Princeton fray were all there except Paul, who must carry a cane on account of Doc. T. K. Richards, twenty pounds. Fervent hope are that his toe in practice despite the fact he rarely used in competition.

HARVARD STARTS HARD WORK FOR YALE

With a grim determination to "dom Yale" grueling practice, which the Harvard coaches and players hope will result in the overthrow of the Blue forces at the Yale bowl a week from Saturday, has started behind the closed gates of the Stadium.

Coach Fisher sent his crimson clad gridgers through the hardest workout of the season. When the players trotted to the Locker Building today after the shadows had fallen, they had saunas on their faces that bode ill for the growing Bulldog resting in his blue kennel.

few weeks. In truth, I cannot bear this at all; it is killing me, so what would it be when you are gone, and I am the wife of Louis? Think of that, Charles Brandon! Think of that, when I am the wife of Louis! Even if the voyage kills me, I might as well die one way as another and then I should be with you, where it were easier to die. And I had to sit there and listen to all this foolish talk!

Brandon insisted: "But no women are going; as I told you, they would not take one; besides, how could you escape? I will answer the first question you ever asked me. You are of sufficient consideration about the court for all your movements to attract notice. It is impossible, we must not think of it; it cannot be done. Why build up hopes only to be disappointed?"

"Oh! but it can be done; never doubt it. I will go, not as a woman, but as a man. I have planned all the details while sitting here. Tomorrow I will send Bristol a sum of money, asking separate room in the ship for a young nobleman who wishes to go to New Spain incognito, and will go aboard just before they sail. I will buy a man's complete outfit and will practice being a man before you and Sir Edwin." Here she blushed so that I could see the scarlet even in the ethereal gloom. She continued: "As for my escape, I can go to Windsor and then perhaps to Berkeley Castle, over by Reading, where there will be no one to watch me. You can leave at once, and there will be no cause for them to suspect me when you are gone, so you can be done easily enough. This is it; I will go to my sister, who now at Berkeley Castle, the other side of Reading, you know, and that will make a shorter ride to Bristol when we start."

The thought, of course, could not but please Brandon, in whom the warmth of Mary's ardor, it be almost begun to offer hope, and he said musingly: "I wonder if I and you shall not dissuade me. I will go to New Spain with you. That will be glorious—far better than the humdrum life of sitting at home—and will solve the whole question."

"But that would be impossible. Mary," said Brandon, into whose face this new evidence of her regard had brought a brightening look; "utterly impossible. To begin with, no woman could stand

"Use Liquid Arvon"

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you dissolve it. It's not a matter of washing it off. About four ounces of ordinary liquid apply it at night when you are going to bed. It's so simple, so easy, so sure, and it's gentle with the hair.

Do this tonight, and by morning you'll be free of dandruff. It will go on and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and destroy every particle of dandruff. If, however, it is not so much as this, it will not matter how much dandruff you have.

You will find, too, that all itching and redness of the scalp will stop. The hair will grow, and the scalp will be healthy, glossy, and soft.

Use one get liquid Arvon at any drug store and it never fails to do the work.

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion sallow—tired-out—sallow—appetite poor—you have a bad case in your mouth—no good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edward Olive Tablets—a substitute for cod liver oil—has been used by Dr. Edwards for 17 years of study. They are powerful and pure. They are the only Tablets that will give you back your color and health with olive oil. You will know them by their own name.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, and a good feeling of buoyancy and health, the childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edward Olive Tablets get on the face of the body, the skin, the eyes.

They start the bile and overcome the cause of yellow skin. They start the bile and overcome the cause of yellow skin. They start the bile and overcome the cause of yellow skin.

By B. C. Forbes

Today let us turn our eyes southward.

The latest mail has brought two interesting communications from the South, one of which is the first of the kind.

It is true that many of us who know little or nothing about the South will look upon this as a letter from a backward, unenterprising, undeveloped, non-industrial? Don't let this prejudice the letter.

It is a typical example of the spirit now animating the South, the extract is from a letter received from J. G. Anderson, head of the Andersons of the South.

"When you get ready to pay a visit we will see that you have the opportunity of meeting a lot of our business men who will give you special attention to the tremendous industrial development that has been taking place in the South for many years. You will be amazed at what has been done here when you come and take a look at it."

"The North will wake up some of these days and open its eyes to the fact that the South is not only ahead of it. The forward looking men in the North will realize that the South is not only ahead of it, but that it is also ahead of it."

"The same mail brought a copy of the Charleston Observer, containing an editorial which is a masterpiece of business. After explaining that the South is not only ahead of it, but that it is also ahead of it."

"Mr. Forbes, in addition to analyzing the agricultural, industrial, mining, mercantile and financial conditions of the section has been writing his own history of the South, and in his tale he has emphasized the extreme desirability, and the extreme value of business men in the South, and in his tale he has emphasized the extreme desirability, and the extreme value of business men in the South."

"In our section we have seen a steady development of this form of decision in business and industry. For instance, in the early days of the textile industry in this section the situation was just the same as in the early days of the textile industry in this section."

"The same development has taken place in the early days of the textile industry in this section. The same development has taken place in the early days of the textile industry in this section."

BORDER CLUB BALL WILL BE FULL OF PEP

Mayor James M. Curley and other prominent persons will be guests of honor at the first annual ball of the Border Club of Dorchester, which will be held in the Dorchester Club tonight.

The ball promises to be one of the biggest social events of the season. It is being given for the purpose of raising funds for the club's new building. The committee in charge is headed by Mrs. J. M. Curley.

As a special attraction, the evening will feature a performance by the famous dancer, Anna Hoffman. She has just arrived from Europe and is making a tour of the United States.

TIGER PREVENTED PEACE-LONGEST

That Georges Clemenceau, the "Tiger of France," deliberately blocked the peace overtures in 1918, in his desire for revenge, was the charge of Jean Longuet, grandson of Karl Marx and French labor and socialist leader, speaking at Symphony Hall.

"The cause of the war was German imperialism, but the reason the war was prolonged was because of French, English and Italian imperialism," declared the speaker. "And the master mind behind the delay of peace and continuation of the war was Clemenceau."

M. Longuet asserted that in 1915 there was great possibility of peace and also in 1917. But, he said, the diplomats of Europe refused to treat with Austrian peace emissaries.

But the tragedy of it all," he said, "was that these representatives of European imperialism kept the knowledge of an offer of peace from that great man, Wilson, then president of the United States. Clemenceau did not want Wilson's peace without victory."
